DAILY EXPRESS OWNER REPUDIATES ANTI-AMERICAN ATTACKS OF PAPER

Lord Beaverbrook, Out of Touch For Two Months, Says American-Born Editor Was Responsible—Says International Banker Gains By Difference-In Exchange While Manufacturers Lose in Sales—Still Admires America.

London, Feb. 6.—Lord Beaverbrook, chief owner of the London Daily Express, which has been making violent attacks against the United States, issued an exclusive statement to the International News Service today, declaring he has been out of touch with London for two months and that he did not inspire the attitude of the newspaper on the subject of exchange rates.

He said he does not agree with the newspaper's attitude.

Lord Beaverbrook was formerly Maxwell Aitken, a Canadian. He was official eye witness with the Canadian Expeditionary Force early in the war and was later made minister of information in the British government. He was born at Newcastle, New Brunswick, and was created a noble in 1916.

The statement in full follows: "Returning from the southern part of France, I find I am being made the subject of a violent attack by a certain section of the American press. The attacks seem to amount to this: That the campaign of the Daily Express against American money profiteering was inspired by me out of anti-American bias; that as director of official propaganda I am carrying on some campaign of hostile character in America; that I am financing the visit of Ulster Presbyterian clergymen who are explaining the anti-home rule case to the United States public.

"To take the last two statements first. I am not director of official propaganda. I resigned that office in November, 1918, and have not the slightest intention of returning to it. Neither as a private individual am I financing the visit of the Ulster Presbyterian clergymen.

"On the third count, I did not inspire upon the subject of American money profiteering. I don't agree with it. For the past two months I have been completely out of touch with London. And, furthermore, while I am the controlling shareholder of the Daily Express, I should not dream of interfering with its policy except in ultimate resort on some vital matter of principle. I am not a working journalist at all and do not manage or direct the newspapers I am connected with.

"We have a very able editor in R. H. Binnefeldt, whom I have always supported, and it is he who is responsible for the policy. The fact that he is American born and bred and that I have sustained him in his place over many years, shows, I suppose, both his pro-American bias and mine.

"No, if the Daily Express is rebuking the United States for profiteering or selfishness, it is an American speaking to his own people.

"Since, however, this question has been raised, I would like to take the opportunity of telling the American people what my sentiments really are. America, in my opinion, is not profiteering. The very exchange which is in her favor to the extent of 12 shillings and six pence to the pound, is also against American manufacturers to that extent in the sale of goods. The difference of six shillings and six pence is the price the international banker charges for accepting a credit in England in exchange for credit in New York.

"I do not dissent from the decision of the United States treasury to make no more European loans nor I think in reality does the Daily Express. The proposal which has been forwarded in some quarters to form for financing central Europe is also a mistake. What is needed now is that every country get back to normal. Great Britain has borrowed from the United States; if we did not mean to pay, but to ask the United States to remit payment anyway we should have said at the time that we were asking for a gift not a loan.

"The way to fight the balance of exchanges is for every man and woman to melt down the trinkets they wear and the plate they own and pay the result in gold to America.

"Such are my views and whatever may be said of them, they can hardly be described as anti-American. I have always been a great admirer of that great country. I am indebted to that fall her gigantic effort during the war and I admire her still in years of peace."

PARIS BANDITS ROB AMERICANS

Patrons of Luxurious Dancing Resort, Compelled by Police Yousins in Evening Clothes to Give Up Jewels, Money and Articles of Clothing, Including Garters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Feb. 6.—Miss Denis Gaultier, of the Majestic Hotel, New York city, was robbed of a $400 diamond ring in a sensational raid, according to today's papers, on a dancing resort, by ten masked bandits, dressed in evening clothes.

Miss G. Sawyer, a well known American actress, and her dancing partner, Jack Gavin, had left the place about an hour before the bandits arrived.

All of the guests were compelled to surrender their money and jewelry. A French actress was compelled at the point of a revolver to sing for the benefit of the youthful raiders, after which they took her $10,000 fur coat.

The dancing place is located in the Rue Derloz. It consists of three big rooms, gorgeously furnished with oriental tapestries. It has for years been the gathering place of fashionable men and women and actresses. Although the police had closed up most of the dance halls and forbidden the sale of wine after hours the scene of the raid had been able to escape detection.

The Rue Derloz dancing place boasted a real American negro jazz orchestra and the "after midnight" revelers paid $10 a bottle for their champagne.

"It was just two o'clock in the morning when ten well groomed youths entered the main room and ordered champagne. After drinking, they danced for half an hour. Suddenly one of them blew a whistle and all drew revolvers, ordering the patrons to line up against the wall. Miss Gaultier, who was accompanied by a Cincinnati, Ohio, business man, whose name could not be ascertained joined the group before the menacing pistol barrels. There was no excitement and the bandits were very polite with the exception of one who was slightly intoxicated. He suggested that all of the girls remove their garters and hand them over as souvenirs. Some of the bold ones protested that their stockings would come down and they could not dance any more. The bandits picked out two of the prettiest girls and forced them at the point of pistols to take off their garters. They were proceeding to the others when a "look out" blew a signal and all ran into the street where they tried to bandit into an automobile. The clock room girl, who had escaped through a window, turned in a police alarm and two of the youths were captured before the motor car got under way. They had only a small amount of booty on them.

SIMS TO ANSWER DANIELS CHARGE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Admiral Sims will be confronted with the counter-charges made against him by Secretary Daniels, before the senate subcommittee investigating naval medal awards.

Chairman Hale announced today that Sims will be asked to reappear before the committee to answer the Daniels charges that he, Sims, "holds no person's opinion supreme but his own" and that he failed to recommend awards for Vice Admiral Wilson, "on whose award there could be no suspicion or doubt," according to Daniels.

Secretary Daniels will appear before the committee again. He will be questioned relative to the attacks he made against Sims and the various points he raised at the medal hearing early in the week. The investigation of the conduct of the navy will be gone into as soon as the medal hearing is finished and the senate grants the committee counsel to aid in the investigation. Three attempts to have congressional authority have failed in the senate.

Senators Hale said today he would make another attempt as soon as it was possible to get the matter before the senate.

CIRCUMSTANCES • FAVOR WILHELM

Complications Caused by Other Demands of Allies and Public Indifference Wane, His Trial Unlikely—May Be Isolated on Dutch Island.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 6.—Beneath the flurry and fuss and chess-like movements in the "kaiser trial" tangle, there is a growing widespread opinion that the ex-emperor of the now disintegrated German empire will never come to trial.

For the moment the attempt of the allies to get the ex-kaiser out of Holland for trial has been overshadowed by the serious new situation created by the insisted demand of the allies for the nearly 900 German military and officers of state who are wanted to stand trial for their war crimes in Europe and Asia.

In view of the public indifference, there are indications that certain high quarters now regret that the situation of trying the former war lord was made. It is believed that all the allies would be completely satisfied if the former emperor was isolated, notably on one of the colonial islands of Holland.

Officially, there has never been any change in the plans for the trial of the ex-kaiser, but developments have occurred which have changed the complexion of the situation.

Roughly, the situation is this: Premier Lloyd George rushed the country into a general election a little more than a year ago.

He swept the country upon a popular platform, the chief planks which included the following:

(1) A German indemnity to make Germany pay for the war to the limit of her ability.

(2) Extradite the ex-kaiser and try him on the charge of plunging the whole world into war.

As the question of Germany's indemnity yield is still a dark mystery and as the public has begun to dismiss it from as a vain hope, it is more or less "up to the government to make good on the other main international plank."

But in view of the other issues and snags that have been encountered, there is now talk that the "kaiser trial" will be quietly dropped. If it can be done gracefully.

SUGGESTS ALLIES WAIVE DEMAND

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Feb. 6.—Prediction that Germany will never deliver the war criminals demanded by the allies, was made today by former Premier Rene Viviani. He suggests that the allies waive the extradition question and substitute a demand for more coal and other supplies from Germany.

"I believe that Germany will refuse to give up the officers demanded, knowing that America's non-ratification of the peace treaty and England's troubles in Ireland and Egypt will prevent military pressure," declared the ex-premier.

COUNCIL DEBATES VON LERSNER'S ACT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Feb. 6.—The council of ambassadors met today to consider the situation created by the resignation of Baron von Lersner, as head of the German peace delegation, and also von Lersner's refusal to transmit to Berlin the list of German war criminals and the accompanying "covering letter" of explanation. It was expected also that the ambassadors would examine several drafts of the rejoinder which is to be made to Holland's note refusing to surrender the ex-kaiser for trial.

From an official source it was learned that there is no disposition to hurry the despatch of the note to Berlin. The allied diplomatics declare they desire to "formulate a sound document of historical importance."

RAILWAY WAGE NEGOTIATIONS

Secrecy Maintained but Men Confident of Gains—Statement Possible
Today if Conference Finishes Work.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The railway wage controversy between officials of the railroad administration and representatives of the brotherhoods and affiliated bodies, today went into the fourth day, with the promise by Director General Hines that such progress had been made that an early adjournment might be expected.

It was announced that if the deliberations are brought to a close today, a full statement of what the conference has accomplished, would be issued.

The labor leaders did not conceal the fact that they are satisfied with the showing thus far made in the parley, confident that they have made substantial gains for the men on many points in dispute. Both sides continued, however, to maintain utmost secrecy concerning details of the discussions that have been in progress behind closed doors.

Sufficient progress has been made, it was vouchsafed, to eliminate all fears of authorized strikes, at least in the near future. The whole question, it is believed, will revert to railroad owners themselves for settlement after the roads are returned under the president's proclamation March 1.

From the outset the conferees have displayed at all stages the spirit of conciliation and have reached a compromise on some of the disputed issues. Officials close to Director General Hines let it be known he was gratified over the developments and the brotherhoods leaders, too, by their optimism, indicated that an amicable adjustment of the wage problem was probable.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

2757—A Smart Frock For the Growing Girl.

A style like this is practical, youthful and becoming. In brown, or blue serge, for waist and sleeves, with skirt of contrasting plaid or striped woolen, it will make a splendid dress for general wear. Silk or satin and serge are nice too, for this model.

The pattern is cut in three sizes: 12, 14 and 16 years. Size 16 will require 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or one cent or two cent stamps by The Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.
Send 10c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date, spring and summer 1920 Catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 50 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

MILTON.
Milton, Feb. 5.—Very soon the officers of the Sarah Hull Hallowell Free Library board will call on every one in this community for money to help carry on the work. It is hoped that every family will be prepared to give as generously as possible so that everyone who cares may still have the pleasure and profit of reading good books.

By means of new wireless invention it will be possible to project sounds into the air which will enable an aviator to know exactly where he is. For example, suppose he were passing over Calgary, from the moment he approached the region he would receive the message "This is Calgary" until he had left it behind him. And so on with all places over which he may pass. In this way his chances of losing his way will be considerably diminished.

Constipated Children Gladly Take "California Syrup of Figs"

For the Liver and Bowels

Tell your druggist you want genuine "California Syrup of Figs." Full directions and dose for babies and children of all ages who are constipated, bilious, feverish, tongue-coated, or full of cold, are plainly printed on the bottle. Look for the name "California" and accept no other "Fig Syrup."

Concerning Epidemics

In Epidemics the germ fastens most readily on fruitful soil—a system that is in poor condition.

Stoppage of food waste, and the resulting decay, generates poisons which are absorbed by the blood, lowering its power of resistance to withstand the attack of outside germs such as influenza.

In plain terms, constipation encourages Epidemics.

If you keep your intestinal passage clear and functioning regularly to get rid of this waste, your system will be kept in good condition to successfully cope with disease germs to which you may be exposed.

That is what the Nujol Treatment does—without straining, and without drawing on the vitality of other parts of the body, as do other forms of treatment.

In plain terms, Nujol discourages constipation and its dangerous consequences.

Keep your body clean inside with the Nujol Treatment. It is the best possible Sickness Prevention.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Beware of products represented to be "the same as Nujol." You may suffer from substitutes.

Address Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 30 Broadway, New York, for valuable health booklet, free, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

WHAT ABOUT THE BRIDGE?

The situation of the Rondout Creek bridge project was fairly and fully presented to the people of Kingston and vicinity by Commissioner Greene in his speech on Wednesday and a large share in the responsibility for the fate of the plan was shown to rest on the immediate action of the people of the locality most concerned. For ten years we have had Commissioners, Governors and lesser lights come to Kingston and make promises that were never fulfilled and that, in some cases, were probably never meant to be fulfilled. Every delay has resulted in an increase in the estimated cost and at least one of these delays was caused by a failure to estimate the cost high enough.

Commissioner Greene, like his predecessors, came to us first with promises and talk of building the bridge as a "monument" to himself. It is a most encouraging indication that in his latest address he makes his promises conditional on the action of others and disclaims all intention of building a "monument" or anything other than a bridge adequate to the demands of the traffic. Delay, as the Commissioner says, has been costly and there is no reason to believe that further delay will be less costly. Before withholding from the public a necessity while waiting for the cost to decrease it is well to figure on what the deprivation costs while waiting, even if there were any assurance that waiting would decrease the cost.

If the people of Kingston and vicinity want the bridge built, they must say so, not once and in a merely perfunctory way, but repeatedly, loudly and as unanimously as may be. Leading citizens have assembled before, dined well, listened to a fine speech and a lot of promises, given three loud cheers for the speaker and then trusted in some power outside themselves to bring about the thing they desired. As Commissioner Greene stated, this will not bring results. The sum needed is a lot of money, even in these days of magnificent spending, and no legislature is likely to appropriate $450,000 for a bridge that is not earnestly and insistently demanded by those most interested. Those opposed have not fallen asleep. Are those in favor going to do so?

LORD GREY'S PROPOSALS.

Lord Grey's letter to the London Times on the subject of the treaty deadlock at Washington shows him to be a broad-minded and highly intelligent statesman. It pours oil on troubled waters in both America and England. While it urges the need of the League of Nations, it does complete justice to the American opponents of that policy and fully recognizes the powers of the senate as a co-ordinate branch of our government. It goes to the utmost limits in the matter of compromise, even suggesting an increase in the vote of the United States after it has been admitted to the league with reservations giving it a freedom of action not enjoyed by and permitting it to disregard obligations binding upon other members, all this because it is recognized that the world has need of the United States in the league, whatever the terms.

It is confidently believed that Vucount Grey speaks for his government, that, whatever may prove to be the attitude of the other members, Great Britain is willing that the United States come into the league on its own terms. Thus it would appear that it now remains only for the two American sides to the controversy to reach agreement. But comments of certain representatives of the "extreme reservationists" tend to show an unwillingness for this country to join the league at all, for some of them point to Lord Grey's concessions as evidence of the right to demand and the need of demanding more extreme concessions than ever. Though Lord Grey's intention may not lead to a compromise, it may assist in bringing to light the seeming fact that the real object of the extreme reservationists is to keep this country try out of the league altogether, whatever the terms.

KEEPING APPLES.

It has been facetiously observed that the best way to keep apples is not to eat them, but even this plan will not prevent them from rotting or losing their flavor when they are not carefully looked after. A recent dispatch from an orchard region sets great store by the careful packing of apples. It is shown that they should be picked before they are too ripe, that they should be handled gently to prevent bruising, and that they should be packed so as to exclude the air with newspaper at the bottom of the barrels, up the sides, on the top, and between each single layer or tier of apples. All this is no doubt good advice to the householder, but the experience of some making the experiment tends to show that temperature is the most important thing.

An ordinary cellar with a furnace is a bad place because it is too warm and dry, and an "outside cellar" may be equally objectionable because it is too cold and damp. A specially built fruit cellar with a winter temperature just above freezing is the best place for apples. When there is no such cellar the coolest available place, free from warmth and free from freezing cold, should be used. The trouble taken is worth while, for not only is it cheaper to buy in bulk early in the season but the more carefully apples are looked after the longer their original flavor is retained.

STYLE MAKERS DEFY CHURCHES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, Feb. 6.—Defying the Holy See, Pope Benedict XV, several cardinals and leading churchmen the world over, the Paris fashion makers are out with women's spring fashions just as daring as any of the styles that brought down scorching denunciations in 1918.

The only comfort the critics may get lies in the fact that the high tide has apparently been reached so far as skirts are concerned. The new skirts are just as short—but no shorter.

The big openings are now in full swing. But one of the smartest establishments stole a march on its competitors by showing its 1920 models three weeks in advance for the benefit of swarms of American and British buyers. This is the advanced tip on what we may see this spring.

Street skirts reaching to the knees; evening gowns an inch or two longer than the winter styles but with the corsage tending more towards absolute nothingness. For the first time in many a spring the dressmakers themselves concede there is nothing "very new" in the spring fashions. Apparently the designers have run out of ideas.

The Lawyer—"You say you want to ask for $10,000 a year alimony. How much does your husband make?" "He's making about eight thousand at present, but I'm sure he could do better if he had to."—Life.

Miner—"What on earth is this birth made of, water? Surely it isn't chicken broth." Waiter—"Well, sir, it's chicken broth in its infancy. It's made out of the water the eggs were boiled in."—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Flatbush—"So your husband went to church with you?" Mrs. Benson—"Yes, he did." "What was the minister's sermon about?" "Charity toward all." "And did you husband derive any benefit from the discourse?" "Well, I'll say he did, for when the preacher asked him what he thought of the sermon his husband refrained from replying."—Yonkers Statesman.

HELP IN FILING STATE TAX RETURN

"Short work can be made of the filing of a return with the State Income Tax Bureau," District Director J. DePuy Hasbrouck said today. "If taxpayers will only bring a memorandum of their earnings and expenses to the District Office at 618 Broadway, Kingston.

"It may not be known, the director continued, "that a corps of auditors is anxious and willing to help taxpayers fill out their yellow sheets." "Contrary to an understanding which seems to prevail," Mr. Hasbrouck added, "the tax has to be paid no matter how small the amount, and after figuring out gross income and then net income, with a reduction of this amount to residents by an exemption of $1,000 if a single person, or married person living apart from husband or wife, or $2,000 for a married person living with husband or wife the head of a family, if there is any tax to pay it must be returned before March 15th.

"Another subject on which we are receiving many inquiries," said the director, "concerns the duties of an unmarried person having income of less than $2,000, who is acting as the head of a family."

Mr. Hasbrouck said that every unmarried person having at least $1,000 net income must file a return. If however, such person actually supports in the household where he lives one or more individuals connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and if he exercises family control over them because of some moral or legal obligation, the $2,000 exemption as head of the family is permitted.

"It must be borne in mind," Mr. Hasbrouck explained, "that the supporting of the dependent must be actual, that the person must be a close relative, and that the division of the expense of supporting a dependent will not entitle either person to the $2,000 head of the family exemption." This does not prevent the granting of the exemption to a taxpayer where the dependent has outside meagre sources of income because in such cases the substantial portion of support would come from the taxpayer.

A widower who breaks up his home and places his children, under eighteen years of age, with relatives and pays for their support is of course the head of a family even though he does not live with his dependents.

An additional exemption of $200 for dependents is not always allowed where the taxpayer is the head of a family, because to receive this allowance the dependent must either be under eighteen years of age or mentally or physically defective.

BIRD MOVIES VERY INTERESTING

The Bird Movies given at St. Mary's Hall on Wednesday evening by the Audubon Society of the Kingston High School proved to be exceptionally interesting. Unfortunately for himself and his audience, Mr. Job, the lecturer and author (one of his books having a preface by Theodore Roosevelt) had such a severe cold that it was difficult to hear more than a small part of what he said. But the lantern slides spoke for themselves, or would have, had not the operator been in such haste that even the grown-ups found it difficult to read more than part of the descriptions.

Many of the pictures were colored, and the fact that they were moving pictures made them of far more than ordinary interest. The first reel showed the "Bird Reservations of Louisiana," covering a tour taken by Colonel Roosevelt, who made these parts government reservations. In the second reel, "Where the Wild Fowl Winter," U. S. Senator George B. McLean, author of the Federal migratory bird law, appeared. Here were shown wild ducks and geese.

"The Propagation of Game Birds and Wild Feathered Fowl," was the title of the next reel, and the screen showed quail, ducks, geese, etc., at the experiment station at Amston, Conn.

In the last reel a son of one of the Yale professors, who assisted Mr. Job in setting his moving pictures, was shown discovering song birds. Then there were several pictures of our better known and more familiar song birds, so that the evening was certainly one of both profit and pleasure.

JUDGE JENKINS NAMES COMMITTEE

To Oppose Before Public Service Commission Removal of Washington Avenue Trolley Tracks—Petition Being Circulated.

Judge Jenkins who was appointed permanent chairman of the citizens and taxpayers meeting at the courthouse Wednesday evening, when a protest was made against the removal of the trolley tracks from Washington avenue, has appointed a committee of five to appear before the public service commission at the public hearing and oppose the request of the trolley company for authority to remove the tracks. The committee appointed is Alderman William B. Martin, F. A. Myers, J. C. Snyder, Abram V. McGraft and Joseph A. Murray.

Legal advice will be given in the matter by Judge James A. Betts, Daniel B. Deyo, D. G. Atkins, J. DePuy Hasbrouck, District Attorney Frederick G. Traver, Henry R. DeWitt, John W. Eckert, Assistant District Attorney Frank W. Brooks and Newton Fessenden. The committee of five will have considerable work to perform in securing data and facts in regard to the matter which may be presented before the public service commission when the hearing is held.

Petitions are now being circulated throughout the city protesting against the proposed removal of the tracks.

Birds and Shellfish.
The English thrush brings its snails to a certain convenient stone, on which it will crack their shells by heating them upon it. Some sea birds carry shellfish to a height and drop them on the rock to break their shells, but this brings only the snail into use, not the summer. The case of the snail is the only one which records the seemingly intelligent use of a tool to accomplish a given purpose.

ALL MAY NOW HELP MRS. BUSH

Through the activities of Alderman William B. Martin of the Twelfth ward a committee has been formed for the purpose of receiving subscriptions to a fund for the relief of Mrs. George Bush and family of seven children, whose unfortunate circumstances were described in The Freeman on Thursday. The committee consists of Mayor Palmer Canfield, John E. Mahar, Admiral F. J. Higginson, Charles Mullen, Aaron Cohen, Richard McCutcheon, Mrs. Thomas H. Edmonston, Joseph M. Schaeffer, C. V. A. Decker and Alderman Martin. Joseph M. Schaeffer, cashier of the State of New York National Bank is the treasurer and to him all contributions should be sent. Alderman Martin, telephone 1890-W or 804, will see that contributors' names are published if they will notify him. Subscriptions have already been received as follows:

Mrs. John Forsyth	$10.00
Mayor Canfield	$10.00
S. Cohen's Sons	10.00
Charles Mullen	5.00
Joseph Kruger	5.00
J. Graham Rose	5.00
F. R. Powley	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Edmonston	5.00
Augustus O. Steuding	5.00
William B. Martin	5.00
Mrs. W. E. Fuller	3.00
Ernest Halstead	2.00
Total	$70.00

Bug Holdup.
A bug may hold up a locomotive. It takes a large number to do the trick, but it has been done. Specialists in the train holdup line in bugbor are the army worm, the tent caterpillar, the cotton worm and migratory locusts. Huge water beetles traveling in for a have been known to accomplish the same feat. When these insects swarm upon the track they so effectively grease the rails that no wheel can be kept turning.—Boston Post.

SOLDIERS LIKED THE PRINCE

Hair to British Throne Fond of Mingling With the Fighters. When He Was Permitted.

In the front lines a Canadian soldier was building a fire one cold night of late autumn. Out of the night behind him came a footstep. He turned, and became doubly alert when he saw that the man was not an officer of his regiment. The soldier approached the figure, held his hands out over it and said:

"This fire certainly looks good to me."

The tone was pleasant enough, and suspicion was almost vanished when the voice went on:

"Have you seen enough? If you haven't I'll get you some more."

The fire builder felt some regret that any suspicion whatever remained, but there had been a special warning against strangers not of one's own regiment. In response to it he was about to question the newcomer closely, when an officer whom he had known came within the front circle and he dropped the stranger.

"Your royal highness, it is best that you return to the automobile at once." And the prince of Wales reluctantly left the fire and returned to the place where he officially belonged. It was not the first time he had left that place of his own accord and gone forward among the men. The Canadian who tells the story learned afterward that the prince's staff had its hands full to keep him from breaking away from the official circle prescribed for him and mingling with the men on their own ground.

What Are Snags?
A woman puzzled an English magistrate recently by asking for a summons against a neighbor for "throwing snags." After inquiries had been made it was found that they were insulting words.

Contrast in Aborigines

The aboriginal inhabitants of New Zealand at the time of their discovery by Captain Cook were the most advanced of all the south Pacific races while the aborigines of Australia are the lowest in intelligence of all human beings. Australia is in no sense inferior to New Zealand in geographic interest, but lofty peaks, profound canyons and active volcanoes are lacking; the rivers are unimportant and the permanent lakes small and few in number. It is a continent composed of plains interrupted by ridges and mountain knolls.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

First picture published in America of a man in uniform with a sword, standing in front of a large building. The man is wearing a uniform and a sword, and is standing in front of a large building. The image is a historical photograph.

RULES TO CHECK
SPREAD OF FLU

While there are no specific means of preventing the spread of influenza yet the following rules sent out by Herman M. Higgs, M. D., state health commissioner, will, if faithfully followed, result in keeping down the number of cases.

Epidemic Influenza.

A highly infectious disease of unknown origin, spread by dissemination of discharges from the nose and throat chiefly through coughing and sneezing, and through physical contact between the sick and the well. One attack of true influenza renders most persons immune from a second attack for an indefinite period.

How to Avoid It.

Keep as far as possible from those who are coughing and sneezing unguardedly.

Do not come in contact unnecessarily with those who may have the disease.

When influenza is prevailing, avoid crowds.

Do not use drinking or eating utensils used by others unless they have been washed in boiling water.

Keep yourself in good condition by living and sleeping in rooms which are comfortably warm, but well ventilated.

If You Have It.

Call a physician. Go to bed immediately in a warm and well-ventilated room. If the services of a physician can not be immediately secured take a laxative (tablespoonful of castor oil for an adult), and adhere to a liquid diet.

Uncomplicated cases recover in a few days. If you would avoid complications, stay in bed at least three days after you feel perfectly well.

For the protection of others cover your face when coughing or sneezing.

If You Are Caring For a Patient.

If there is a catarrhal discharge, see that it is received upon handkerchiefs and these promptly placed in water and boiled, or better still, furnish pieces of soft cloth which can be burned. Paper bags may be used temporarily to collect soiled cloths.

Wash your hands with soap and water immediately after handling the patient or anything soiled with discharges.

Avoid, if possible, close proximity to the patient when he is coughing or sneezing.

If more than one patient is being cared for in the same room, remove them as far as possible from each other or separate their beds by hanging sheets or placing screens between them.

While caring for patients avoid contact or association with other susceptible members of the household so far as possible.

Maintain good ventilation.

AT THE THEATERS.

John Burroughs Again Tonight—Greatest Minstrels Saturday.

Marguerite Clark in "Widow by Proxy," is a delight to the eye at Keuey's. First this picture was a stage vehicle for the funny May Irwin; then it became a musical comedy called "Gloriana," and now Marguerite Clark is using it to exploit her charming self in. Also the treat of the performance is a Prima subject in natural colors of our world famous neighbor, John Burroughs, the poet-naturalist. The whole family will find it a mighty fine treat. Tomorrow Bessie Love in Cupid Forecloses and a Keystone comedy, "Fair Enough," at the Auditorium tonight, is predicted to go on record as the funniest picture ever made with a charming girl featured. This is a laugh producer, a grouch chaser, a great picture. A Billy West comedy and Fox News are added features. Tomorrow Harry Carey in "The Gun Fighting Gentleman," and the last episode of "Smashing Barriers."

Hundreds braved the terrific blizzard yesterday to see their favorite William Farnum in his greatest achievement, "The Spoilers." With a fair day today the Opera House will be crowded to the doors to see one of the most thrilling fist fights ever presented on the screen.

When Al G. Field's famous minstrel company was organized October 6, 1886, there were fourteen minstrel shows touring the country, the Haverleys, Billy Emerson's, Cal Wagner, Duprez & Benedict, W. S. Cleveland and many others. Today there are but three or four minstrel companies before the public. However, this decrease in the number of companies also applies to circuses, opera companies, Shakespearean organizations, etc. The companies at the present time are two or three times larger than thirty-three years ago. At the time of its formation, the Al G. Field Company numbered 24. At the present time three times that many persons are connected with the organization. The company, with music, which will be seen at the Kingston Opera House Saturday night.

Theater goers of this city will be interested in the coming engagement of "The Better Ole," the comedy with music, which will be seen at the Kingston Opera House Thursday, Lincoln's Birthday, with a holiday matinee.

Didn't Want to Wait.

Mr. Parvess-Smith was furnishing his library, which occupation was causing him considerable anxiety. In despair he called to an expert book-seller, and after many suggestions and a final order for a complete library he turned to his adviser and asked: "And what is the name of that fellow who writes such a lot—Shakespeare, or something like that, isn't it?" "Shakespeare," said the adviser. "Shakespeare," said the man. "Yes, that's it. Get me all his writings and make a note to order anything you see may write." Conceiving a smile, the book-seller suggested: "And may I suggest you have them bound in Morocco?" "Bound in Morocco?" queried the expert. "Yes," said the book-seller. "I want the condensed things of mine."

Making Your Dollars Count

In these days of higher costs, all householders are trying to get full value for their dollars.

They buy SALANUT not only for its superior quality, but because it is cheaper.

Shortening is an important item in food costs. Every day it is used in baking, frying or deep frying. In its fluid form it is most economical.

A pint is a pound.

Every drop is used.

CORN BREAD:

2 tablespoons SALANUT 2 cups cornmeal
1 tablespoon syrup 1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt 1 cup milk
2 teaspoons baking powder 2 eggs

Mix corn meal, flour, salt and baking powder with well beaten eggs, SALANUT, milk and syrup. Pour into an oiled pan, bake in a quick oven. Serve hot.

Nicotine Poisoning

Its Cause and Cure

(By C. Burton Connor, M. D.)

New York: Nicotine is the most active ingredient of tobacco and is a deadly poison even in small doses. Fortunately in the use of tobacco we get very minute doses to which the system seemingly becomes accustomed, but it acts as a slow poison. The same, and as such it does great injury to the human system without making itself apparent to the individual. Many say "Tobacco has no bad effect upon me." Yes, these same people could not under any circumstances be induced to take even the smallest dose of other well-known poisons not nearly so dangerous in their action. You have often heard the expression, "He has a tobacco cough." This is an irritation of the mucous membranes caused by nicotine, and exposes the throat and lungs to germs which in many cases prove fatal. Inflamed air passages frequently lead to infectious diseases such as rheumatism, scarlet fever, diphtheria, tuberculosis and many other diseases. Continued irritation of the throat through the use of tobacco has been held responsible for cancer of the tongue, throat and stomach. There is no question but that the continued use of nicotine as found in tobacco affects the optic nerve thus weakening the eyesight and many cases of total blindness may be traced to this subtle poison. Nicotine also causes a thickening of and contraction of the blood vessels which brings on high blood pressure, and with it sooner or later apoplexy, cerebral hemorrhage and paralysis. This is not a pleasant picture to the user of tobacco. Some who use tobacco may go through life without experiencing any of these symptoms, but in these cases are comparatively few. Frequently we find those who do not admit that they feel any ill effects because they hesitate to confess that they lack the will power to stop the use of this poison, and they always lay the blame for any illness caused by the excessive use of tobacco to some other cause, when down deep in their hearts they know the real reason is tobacco. Diseases commonly known as heart trouble, kidney trouble, eye troubles, nervousness, loss of memory, general debility, loss of vigor, premature old age, stomach troubles and many other diseases may be greatly benefited and often cured by the elimination of nicotine from the system. I am frequently asked, "What is the remedy?" "How can I get rid of the nicotine in my system?" The answer is, cut down on your tobacco or stop it entirely. "Is there anything I can take to stop the craving for tobacco?" A is another question I am asked. Yes, is the answer. I have had remarkable success with a simple tablet known as Nicotol. It is absolutely harmless and contains no habit-forming drug. This remedy seems to quickly overcome all desire for tobacco and it does not cost a fortune either. Should you wish to know positively if tobacco is injuring you, just make the following test: Take Nicotol tablets for a week or so and note how much better you will feel. You will need no further evidence to convince you that tobacco is not necessary for your health or happiness and you will be astonished and surprised at how easy it was to overcome this injurious and useless habit. Try it today before you forget it and I know you will thank me for writing this article.

NOTE: When asked about Nicotol tablets one of our leading druggists said: "They are simply wonderful for the tobacco habit. I have used them myself and they are ahead of anything we have ever sold before and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." The manufacturers authorize every druggist to refund the money to anybody who is dissatisfied and Nicotol is sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists including Connelly Drug Company and Ten Brook Pharmacy.

GOV'T HELPS MAIMED SOLDIER

Surgeon General Blue Calls Attention to Free Treatment Provided Under Recent Legislation.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Because discharged, sick or disabled soldiers do not know the extent of federal aid they are entitled to, a great many of them are buying their own artificial limbs, paying for medical attention, or neglecting themselves, in spite of the fact that they can get the very best of treatment from the government.

Reports reaching the United States public health service from stations where hospitals are in operation for the benefit of discharged soldiers, sailors, marines and war nurses, show that a great number of men who served in the war and were injured have never fully understood the provisions of the legislation supplementing the war risk insurance act. Under the terms of this legislation the public health service has established hospitals at convenient places throughout the United States for the free treatment of any member of the military establishment, whose disability may be traced to service with the military or naval forces. These are civilian hospitals, not under army discipline.

The bill provides that the men are entitled to a free medical examination to determine the extent of their disability. If found to be disabled the war risk bureau will pay them compensation according to the extent of the disability and if the case requires, it will direct that they be admitted to the most convenient public health service hospital or sanatorium. The hospital furnishes artificial limbs, glass eyes, braces for deformed limbs, etc., free. It also examines the eyes to see whether glasses are needed and looks after the teeth. In case of tuberculosis or other disease requiring like treatment, special sanatorium treatment is provided. Discharged sick or disabled soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses are urged to write to the United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., for further details.

Supreme Court Justice Morris-Jachner of Poughkeepsie has granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to plaintiff in the action brought by Minnie Miller against John Miller. The parties were married in New York City, 1911. Brinnier, Cowfield & Brinnier are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

How to Secure "Flu" Nurse.
All physicians who find patients in need of a nurse for cases of influenza, and who for any reason are unable to secure such nurse, may call upon the Board of Health office at the City Hall, telephone 94, stating the case and giving the address, and either of the tuberculosis nurses who are now available for such work or the registered nurses secured by the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, will be sent to give assistance, without cost to the patient. Should a case arise where a physician could not be secured as soon as needed, individuals suffering themselves in a serious situation and need of a nurse at once, may themselves telephone to the City Hall, 94, for one of the nurses, giving their address and telling their circumstances.

INDUSTRIAL CENSUS BEGINS

Kingston Headquarters of One District—212 Men Needed May File Applications For Jobs In New York State Which Has 40 Districts.

Close on the heels of the censuses of population and agriculture comes the next big step in the work of the Fourteenth Decennial Census—that of taking the census of manufactures, mines and quarries and oil and gas wells. Director Rogers of the Census Bureau announced today that March 1 would see the work of collecting Uncle Sam's industrial statistics well under way. The general schedules have already been mailed to all manufacturing establishments in the country, approximately 400,000.

More than 1,200 special agents will be needed by the Census Bureau to carry on the vast work of enumerating each factory, mine, quarry, oil and gas well in the nation, and Director Rogers has issued an open invitation for all men interested to file applications for these jobs immediately with the Census Bureau, Washington. In his statement Mr. Rogers says that the work of the special agents will be from two to four months duration and that an energetic agent can earn from $125 to $150 per month. When traveling a per diem subsistence allowance is also made.

The state of New York for the purposes of the industrial census work has been divided into forty districts with New York city, Kingston, Albany, Rome or Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo as headquarters for the chief special agents sent out from Washington by the Census Bureau. According to present plans 212 special agents will be needed in the forty New York districts with headquarters in the following cities:

Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Hudson, Walton, Binghamton, Norwich, Oneida, Olean, Schenectady, Amsterdam, Troy, Saratoga Springs, Hudson Falls or Glens Falls, Johnstown, Plattsburg, Ogdensburg and Malone. Watertown, Lewis, Hamilton or Little Falls, Fulton, Auburn, Ithaca, Elmira, Corning, Geneva, Lyons, Mount Morris, Belmont or Wellsville, Warsaw, Batavia, Albion, Dunkirk or Jamestown, and Salamanca or Olean.

London's Great Fire.
Some 250 years ago there was a tragic time in London, for one night in 1666 the great fire broke out. It began near the tower and, driven by the high wind consumed 80 churches, including St. Paul's cathedral, Guildhall and more than 13,000 houses. Happily, the number of lives lost was comparatively small. To quote the concluding words of the inscription on the monument which commemorates the fire: "In a small space of time the city was seen most flourishing and reduced to nothing. Three days after, when the fated fire had baffled all human counsels and endeavors in the opinion of all, it stopped, as it were, by a command from heaven, and was on every side extinguished." Some good was done, for it burned away all lurking infection from the plague. Another result was the popularizing of the disaster known as Shoreditch, which until then had been mostly fields. The homeless citizens settled themselves there in tents, with such goods as they could save; gradually shacks and houses replaced the tents.—Exchange.

First Negro Clergyman.
In 1765 on November 29, Samuel Haynes, a Quaker, was chosen to preach. He was the first negro clergyman in the United States. Haynes was born at West Hartford, Conn. in 1738. He served as a soldier in the revolution, and after the war became a convert to the house of the Rev. Samuel Ferrand, a Congregational minister at Greenwich, Conn. Haynes Ferrand taught Haynes Latin and Greek, and helped him to study for the ministry. In 1765 he was formally ordained a Congregational minister at Greenwich, Conn., and shortly after was assigned to the parish of Torrington. He remained after two years on account of the prejudice of his parishioners. He was called to preach at a church at Rutland, Vt., where he preached for 15 years.

FACTORY PAY FAR ABOVE SCHOOL

Average Wage of Factory Workers Doubled While Teachers' Pay Increased Less Than Fifty Per Cent. Says Gilbert.

In his address before the Association of Academic Principals at Syracuse, Deputy Commissioner of Education Frank B. Gilbert, speaking on "The Teachers' Salaries and the Fixation Thereof by School Authorities," made comparisons of the pay of teachers with the pay of factory workers as follows:

It is unnecessary at this time to show the discrimination against teachers in the matter of compensation. The evidence of this discrimination is conclusive. According to prevailing rates of compensation in every known profession or vocation and the increase in the actual cost of the necessities of life, the teacher today is the poorest paid of all workers who require any degree of preparation for their vocations. Since December, 1914, the average increase in retail food prices in the United States is about 83 per cent. In November, 1914, the average weekly earnings of about 600,000 of the factory workers in the state of New York were $12.82, while in November, 1919, the average weekly wage of such workers was $26.37. The employees in factories manufacturing women's clothing, a large percentage of whom are women and girls, received in October, 1914, an average weekly wage of $14.52, while in October, 1919, employees in such factories received an average weekly wage of $27.18. I know of no city or school district in the state of New York where there has been even a 50 per cent increase in the salaries of teachers during the periods covered by the statistics above referred to. The medium salary of all teachers in the elementary and high schools in 292 cities of the United States, as shown by the statistics obtained by Doctor Evenden and published in the bulletin before referred to, was, for the school year of 1918-19, $917. In arriving at this average the salaries of teachers in the grades, in the high schools, special teachers, supervisors, heads of departments and principals, were considered. This medium salary is 40 per cent below that paid to the skilled and unskilled laborers and employees in factories and shops where the greater number employed are women and girls.

If money is all that is sought for, there is no incentive for the teacher to remain in the school. It is probable that when all is done that can be done in the way of compensation there will still be a disparity between the wages of the skilled worker in the shop and the salary of the teacher. It may therefore be assumed that the teacher in making her determination will be controlled by her individual necessities. It will be a physical impossibility for the teacher to enter upon her work or remain in her position if she is not paid enough to meet living conditions. The minimum salary, therefore, in any schedule must be based upon the amount which is required to pay actual living costs. It is obviously unfair to fix this minimum at a sum barely sufficient to pay the cost of actual necessities. A teacher is not a machine, the same today, tomorrow and the year after—but to accomplish her purpose in life she must read and study so as to grow in her profession. This requires time and money, and she can not accomplish it unless her compensation is sufficient to pay more than the bare cost of existence. The personality of the teacher is an important element in her success. A teacher oppressed by poverty, worried by fear of the future and burdened by the thought of debt, may not be expected to contribute much in the way of an attractive personality to those who come under her influence. The teacher, therefore, as a minimum requirement, is entitled to a living wage, and in addition thereto an amount sufficient to enable her to meet her obligations with increasing forcefulness and a smiling face.

The board of education of the several cities of the state are burdened with the responsibility of determining the amounts to be paid to the teachers. This responsibility is not a light one. On the one hand they are met with the distressed wail of the taxpayers of the city, who are already burdened with ever increasing taxes. On the other hand there is the absolute need of maintaining instructional standards, which can be accomplished only by paying the teachers materially increased compensation. The wise and thoughtful board, in determining the question of teachers' compensation, will not be influenced by the wails and screams of the individual taxpayer. Intelligent discrimination and investigation will disclose the fact that the public at large are willing and anxious that the public school system should be maintained with the highest degree of efficiency. There will be public complaint and severe arraignment of school authorities if the schools are endangered by a higgledy policy in respect to teachers' compensation. We can say, therefore, with assurance that there is now and will be overwhelming popular support of a policy favoring such an increase in the salaries of teachers as will not only suffice to meet existing living conditions but will also bring and keep in the schools well qualified teachers of high standing and influence. The schools must be maintained and for this purpose teachers must be paid adequate compensation. The cost is great, the tax will burden, but the people will pay with a hearty consent.

In twenty-one of the forty-one cities of the third class, the average salaries of teachers in the elementary schools are those prescribed by the law, that is, $720 a year; in five of them the minimum is fixed at $750; in thirteen, at $800; and in three, at $850. For elementary teachers the prevailing annual increase is $50; there are eight with less than $50, and eleven with more than $50. The maximum salaries for such teachers vary from $900 in Cornwall, Franklin and Norwich, to $1,600 in New Rochelle and White Plains, the prevailing rate being from $1,150 to $1,200.

In the high school schedules of cities of the third class we find a greater tendency to increase the statutory minimum salaries. In thirteen the minimum of $840 is prescribed, while in nine the minimum is $900, in eight it is $1,000 and in two $1,200 or better. The average annual increase for such teachers varies from $40 in Norwich to $100 in Niagara Falls, New Rochelle and White Plains.

The minimum salaries of high school principals are not fixed by the statute. It has been generally understood that the schedules are to fix the minimum salaries of such principals and determine the number and amount of annual increments. The schedules filed show great variance in such salaries and increments. In cities of the third class having less than twenty-five thousand population the average minimum salary is about $1,800, while the average maximum salary, reached usually in eight years, is about $2,500. In cities of the third class having over 25,000 population, the average minimum salary of high school principals is $2,575 and the average maximum salary is about $3,400.

The figures which are here given are not very elucidating, but they give a notion of the operation of the new law. While in my judgment the salaries and annual increments fixed in the schedules, especially for elementary and high school teachers, are yet too low, they indicate a willingness on the part of city boards of education to do something to alleviate the present crying needs of our teachers. What remains to be done must be accomplished by the local boards, and we may well leave with them the settlement of the troublesome problems. Responsible for the successful administration of the systems under their jurisdiction, to the people whom they serve, knowing as they must the limitations that control them and appreciating the faithful service of the teachers, it must be assumed that they will deal fairly with all concerned in this important question.

LEGION TO AID K. OF C. SERVICE

Definite announcement has been made that the various state organizations of the American Legion will interest poets within their jurisdiction of the educational inducements which the Knights of Columbus have established throughout the country for demobilized service men and women.

According to William J. McGinley, supreme secretary, the Knights have arranged to keep the thousands of poets informed of the opening and progress of the schools which are free to all former service men. "There are more than sixty schools already operating," said Mr. McGinley, "and by midsummer it is expected that the total attendance will easily be 250,000 men and women. The schools will be open to all women war workers who have certificates of service from the government which will allow Red Cross and army nurses to qualify and women who served with the navy."

"Action has also been promised to us by the Legion in our work of finding jobs for the veterans. The whole territory taken in by the eastern-southeastern department of our employment service which takes in New York, Boston, Providence, Baltimore, Jersey City, Philadelphia, Bangor and other cities are to benefit by the efforts which the local posts will exert in finding work for their 'buddies' who are unemployed and registered on the enrollment books of the K. of C. bureau."

BIRD'S SONG IDENTIFIES IT

Once Heard, One Is Not Apt to Forget the Trill of the Beautiful Dickcissel.

As far as we are informed, there is but one American bird whose song can be heard above the roar and rattle of a swiftly moving train, when the receding end is on the mid train.

You may be "jazzing" along at sixty or seventy miles an hour in your comfortable Pullman seat, and over the tremendous hum and racket of the steel carvans will come to you from the little feathered fellow on the telegraph wire outside the incessant song of hot-weather joy.

"Dick! Dick! Dick!" Or, if you prefer another analysis: "Chip! Chip! Chee-chee-chee!" So the Dickcissel has a distinct sound of his own—something that no other bird can imitate or rival. Sometimes we think Dick is a bit proud of it, too, for he uses the railway right of way clear across the middle western and plains states in such numbers his song is ever in our ears while you are traveling.

The Dickcissel was formerly called the black-throated bunting and is a very beautiful creature as well as very useful. He is mostly of a rich yellow hue, with a black throat—but nobody need identify him by his dress, for his song is inimitable. In your experience we never heard any of the warbling vireos attempt to imitate the "Chip! Chip! Chee-chee-chee!" of the hot-weather friend.

He is really a wanderer of the air, too, for he is here in spring and early in departing, and down his great vocal chords when you and I are gazing beneath an electric fan. He cuts lots of bugs and weed seeds and is a mighty good citizen.—Omaha World-Herald.

Some of Japan. By Marco Polo, the empire of Japan is named Sangan; and by the Chinese, Cipangu; or, "The empire beyond the sea." Japan or Japan, appears to be a corrupt form of the Chinese term, introduced probably by the Portuguese or Indians. The inhabitants, the empire of Japan, or, as the Chinese call it, Cipangu, which has the same significance as the Chinese term.

Tobacco is another name by which the opium is recognized, which signifies "The sub-continental realm." From this designation, the sovereign originally derived one of his titles: that of Yung Shun, i. e., "The Lord of Yung," or of the sub-continental empire.—Note in the Houghton Society publication.

Use of Plant Fertilizer. When the pots in which we house plants become full of roots and the soil works out, or exhausted, a little fertilizer can be given them. The soil should be moist, not dry or very wet, when fertilizer is applied. There are good plant foods sold at large seed stores, of which sufficient can be had for a small price to do for a good sized collection of plants for the whole winter. Or a fertilizer can be made by dissolving half an ounce of nitrate of soda in a gallon of water. About half a teaspoonful of this fertilizer every two weeks for a plant in a six-inch pot will be sufficient. Repotting and coloring must not be given too much fertilizer. Greenhouses will bear a larger quantity.

How Are Responsibilities. We don't talk enough about men, when it is all we should be talking about. We talk about politics, when we should be talking about men, for they are responsible for the politics. We talk about methods, when we should be talking about men, for men make the methods. We talk about systems, when we should be talking about men, for men make the systems. We talk about men, when we should be talking about men, for men make the men.

men, for men make systems. And let's talk more about men. When you are not satisfied with politics, methods, or systems, look to your men. The human element is responsible. Go to the source of them that need remedy. Go to the source responsible for the action. Men are responsible.—Dr. Disappointment.

Remove Ink Stains. To remove ink stains from white cotton, wet the spot and rub with dry good laundry soap. Then wash in a solution of ammonia diluted for use. If ink has not all disappeared, place out and boil, and the ink will disappear as if by magic. Ink can be removed in the same way.

Effect of Sugars and Fat. Insulin and who takes a long to endure and cannot bear a long to endure, or perhaps even half of candy or candy, is putting weight on taking it off. Insulin, this means that sugars and fat are quick and complete burning fuel for the human body.

The Business Part. A dog had been a child in our neighborhood, and we were discussing the incident. One neighbor informed us that the dog was very gentle and quiet. Frank, who had been very gentle to the conversation, turned to his neighbor and asked: "Where, with part bit him?"—Blackburn.

POLAND FACES DARKEST HOUR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 6.—Threatened with the "red" army from without and epidemics and starvation within, Poland must have the immediate aid of the allies or disaster threatens to arrive with the spring.

This is the burden of information furnished the department of state at Washington and the foreign offices of London and Paris by the Polish ministers accredited to those capitals, it was learned today.

The Polish government, in issuing an appeal for allied support through what it calls Poland's darkest hour, has made it plain that in its opinion this help is absolutely necessary regardless of whether Lenin's offer of peace is accepted.

To demobilize several hundred thousand soldiers in a country where food is scarce and where there are already large numbers of idle and much suffering and privation, would, it is said, be courting catastrophe. Even with peace to come before spring, it is pointed out, the neighboring bolsheviks might find in Poland itself the most powerful allies, general privation and general hunger.

Stanislaw J. Arcot, Polish plenipotentiary in food matters, has just arrived in Washington. He declared the situation in Poland is far from bright with regard to food and that at a minimum 400,000 tons of breadstuffs and some 50,000 tons of fats are desperately needed to tide the country over the winter and spring.

"Owing to the war," he said, "thousands of square miles of rich country are uncultivated and completely devastated. There is a great shortage of horses, cattle, agricultural machinery and seeds."

"In the eastern districts, Poland, Lithuania, White Russia and northern Wolynia—the situation worse still. There is great distress and hunger."

Poland must now work with two great objects in view: First, to save the population from starving and enfeebling it to work. Second, to insure future supplies by cultivating as much land as possible by improved agricultural methods.

"Unable to buy for cash, as she has no money, Poland must ask help and credit."

"The entire country is on rations. The average is 180 grammes per day per person, soldiers and workers getting more, non-producers getting less."

"There are about 8,000,000 inhabitants in the eastern districts. Of these, two millions are dependent upon Poland alone and are provided for precisely on the same basis as the citizens of Poland proper."

"The total needed tons of grain are 2,451,800. The total production amounted to 2,318,400. Net short, 133,400 tons."

"The harvest in Posen proved to be 100,000 tons less than expected, but the shrinkage is being partly made good by purchase and exchange from Roumania and Yugoslavia. By rearranging the rations, and otherwise economizing, the Polish government believes it can get along on the 400,000 tons mentioned. With this amount of grain from the United States, Poland, by under-nourishing her population, can save herself from starvation and can continue working. But the 400,000 tons are the absolute minimum."

"Concerning the Polish occupation of the eastern district, it was done to save the country. By every possible means the bolsheviks in Russia tried to make a revolution in Poland, and then by defeating the Polish army, to join with the Germans."

"The defeat of Poland, or the withdrawal of Polish troops from the eastern districts would mean the end of all productivity, all order and all security and a confederation between Russia, Germany and Hungary. Such a union, with an army organized by Germany, would be a menace to the peace of the world."

"The morale of the Polish army and the civilian population must be maintained. This must be done by feeding them."

"If the Polish people are not supplied as indicated, starvation and epidemics will follow and it is a common truth that hunger is the cause of all socialist evils and disturbances."

Bird Preserve Planned.

The proposal to establish an extensive wild bird preserve on the northern shore of Lake Erie is gaining wide favor in Canada. Something must be done at once, it is urged by bird lovers, to preserve the wild fowl and insectivorous birds, or they will become as extinct as the wild pigeon. There are strict game regulations in the province, but the establishment of a large preserve would assist the legislation. There is already a section of the proposed area in Roncesvalles park, and it is planned to extend this along the lake shore west for 20 miles.

London Suffering from Plague.
The outbreak of a disease, which has many symptoms in common, is causing the death of cats by the hundred in London.

The disease is not thought to be communicable to human beings, but distinguished surgeons are unable to confirm the exact nature. It spreads with amazing rapidity, and the symptoms are said to resemble closely that of rabies, except that death usually takes place within two days.

PIES AND PUDDINGS TO RETAIN BOOZE

Hotels and Restaurants Will be Permitted to Use Intoxicants for Culinary Purposes, Says O'Connor.

Since pies, puddings and other delicacies that have depended upon a little dash of spirits to give them the proper taste are not to suffer because of John Barleycorn's downfall, that is so far as hotels and restaurants are concerned.

According to a statement issued by Charles R. O'Connor, prohibition director of the state of New York, who is charged with the issue of permits for the manufacture of intoxicants as permitted, hotels and restaurants will be granted permits to keep a stock of "the stuff" on hand for "legitimate culinary purposes."

Mr. O'Connor did not say whether or not this ruling would apply to private families.

OVERLOOK THEIR BEST BETS

Discontent, Common to Ordinary Men, Spells the Real Happiness Within Their Reach.

John Burroughs had a good estimate of value when he wrote:

"I have kept apart from the strife and fever of the world, and have sought the paths in the quiet fields and by still waters. I know that all this clamor and competition and turmoil of the world are the result of the fury with which we play the game. What is all this noisy civilization and all this rattling machinery of government for, but that man may have just the same and contented life that I am living, and on the same terms as I do? Men can find it in the next field, beyond the hill—a land of peace and plenty—if one has peace in his heart and a spirit of fair play in his blood."

There is contentment in the sunshine, in the rainfall, in the dew and in the hills, the fields and the flowers; there is contentment in the roll of the tides, in the rising moon, in the song of birds, in the mountain; there is the dignity of calm and peace in every attribute of material world save in man alone; and when we come to man's case we find him disregarding his gifts from nature—an unhappy, restless, discontented, aggressive, fighting animal, unsatisfied with that which lies close to his hand, and contending always for something he has not.

Too many unhappy souls are giving too much of life for what they will ever receive for their exertions, George M. Farley writes in Seattle Post-Intelligencer. It would seem that after a man's day's work is done he might give himself over to peace and contentment, and to the enjoyment of what he has gained for himself. But instead he feels called upon to go out at eventide and join the Fourth Ward Protest club, and formulate his demands in 17 separate and distinct paragraphs, all of them of prime importance to his future happiness, or so he avers. He forgets what he has in his eagerness for what he has not.

Takes No Chance on Bad Luck.
Many peoples believe that ill luck will be the portion of a child who cuts its upper teeth first, and there are one or two African tribes who so firmly believe this that in order to spare the child a life of misery, they promptly kill any child whose upper teeth appear first. Another tribe need bad fortune for every one in town, and avoids it by slaying them all.

STATE GRANGE ENDS SESSIONS

Goes on Record as Opposing Repeal of New York's Ratification of 18th Amendment—Other Resolutions—State Master Lowell Taken Ill.

By Telegram to The Freeman Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The New York State Grange at its closing session here this afternoon went on record as opposed to any legislation to rescind the action of the last state legislature in ratifying the national prohibition amendment. It also adopted a resolution of protest against "the autocratic centralization of authority in the department of education in Albany," favored changing the election enrollment law to permit all voters to register at any time in the year up to within thirty days of election; favored election of all school superintendents by direct vote of the people; protested against the authorities to have the right to dissolve a country school district; approved a uniform system of textbooks in the schools; disapproved a proposal to tax every citizen of the state $2.50 a year, the amount to apply to the bonded indebtedness of the state; adopted a resolution for the protection of the dairy industry against substitutes of cheap vegetable oils; adopted a resolution urging enactment of a law to relieve automobile drivers of liability for injury of persons who ride free and adopted a resolution that the Grange prepare a brief showing the actual cost of milk production in the state. State Master Sherman J. Lowell was taken ill this morning. Influenza is feared.

ARMORY GAME TONIGHT

When The Cops Play Soldier Boys—Dancing Follows Game.

The long expected indoor baseball game between a selected team of the city's police force and members of Company M will be played at the state armory this evening for the benefit of Company M's charity fund. Tickets are fifty cents. Following the game dancing will be enjoyed. It is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Home Managers Meet Monday.

Would Probably Admit That.

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, dashed out of his New York office the other day and into a subway, only to be stopped by a guard, who said to him: "Say, you look a lot like McAdoo."

"Well, maybe I do, but I'm glad I am not he," McAdoo replied. "I don't think much of that fellow, and I don't like folks to take me for him."

Whereupon the guard entered into a vigorous defense of McAdoo and McAdoo, on the other hand, assailed himself on all sides. Several trains went by while the guard and the former secretary argued. Finally McAdoo convinced his friend that maybe, after all, this fellow McAdoo wasn't much of a citizen, and started on, but the guard, as a parting shot, shouted: "Well, you've got to admit that he must have been some guy to marry the president's daughter, anyhow."

A few days later the guard learned that he really had been talking to the former secretary.—Buffalo Sunday Express.

Hope to Reclaim Burning Mine.

The fire which for more than twenty years has burned in the upper levels of the United Verde copper mine, near Jerome, Ariz., is about to be eliminated by a drastic process of lowering the entire surface of the property to a 400-foot level. All attempts to extinguish the fire have failed.

It is the general opinion that the fire was started by a slip in the rock producing sufficient friction heat to ignite the ores rich in sulphur. It has ### burned its way through veins of copper, gold and sulphur.

The process of suppressing the fire involves the removal of 14,000,000 cubic yards of material. The area to be excavated is roughly estimated at 400 by 800 feet. Monster steam shovels are to be employed in the work.

It is expected that the task of removing the entire top of the mine and to extinguish the fire will occupy several years.

Found Spoons Indigestible.

Boswell, Lake Merritt's popcorn peddler, died this morning when he mistook a sponge for his favorite diet and choked to death, reports an Oakland (Cal.) correspondent.

Boswell has been an attraction at the lake for several months. He had the freedom of the lawn and wandered about the lake at will. Visitors discovered that he liked candied popcorn and bought it for him by the bagful. Gradually Boswell became a popcorn addict and eschewed nearly every other form of food.

This morning Boswell crossed Grand avenue to a gasoline service station. A sponge lay invitingly on the ground where some automobilist had dropped it after washing his machine. The sponge looked to Boswell like molasses popcorn. With a grin of anticipation he gulped it down. Ten minutes later he was a dead bird.

A charming little weekend cottage of two rooms is offered at $375.

WANT A JOB CARTING SNOW?

Then Apply to Superintendent Van Keuren at Once—He Has Thirty Rigs at Work and Needs at Least Thirty More—Snow Removal a Big Problem—The Switching System.

The big blizzard has placed a problem on the shoulders of Superintendent W. Scott Van Keuren of the board of public works, and the only way it can be solved is by obtaining at least thirty more rigs to help cart away the snow. Early this morning he placed a gang of men and thirty rigs at work carting snow away in the business sections, and can use as many rigs as apply for work.

There is much snow on Broadway and it will be impossible to remove it all add for that reason Superintendent Van Keuren is using the switching system between blocks. In other words the trolley tracks have to be used by vehicles in getting up and down town, and half-way between, each block on each side of the tracks there has been shoveled an area of open space large enough to accommodate a vehicle. By this means when a vehicle is in the car tracks and a trolley approaches, the driver turns in at this open place in the road until the trolley passes and then resumes the trip in the trolley tracks.

As fast as possible the board of public works will remove the snow from the main arteries of travel, but until that can be done this switching system will have to be used to avoid blocking traffic.

Any one having a rig and desiring work should apply to Superintendent Van Keuren at once.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Walter Lee of No. 231 Elmwood street died this morning at the Kingston City Hospital. Her husband died on Wednesday.

The funeral of Benjamin Hamilton, which was to have been held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, will be held from the residence, 35 Smith avenue, Saturday afternoon.

Jane Coddington, widow of the late Joshua Coddington of Palen-ton, died at her home in that place on Sunday night, February 1. She is survived by three sons and two daughters.

Edith Bowen, wife of Louis A. Miller died suddenly Thursday at her home in Clinton, N. J. Mr. Miller formerly lived in Kingston and later in Rosendale. He went from the latter place to Clinton. Notice of funeral will be given later.

John F. Butler, 44 years of age, a mail carrier, attached to the Catskill post office, dropped dead Thursday about twelve o'clock while delivering mail on his route, after having stopped at the house of Louis Stanford, on Bloomer street. Mr. Butler died on the Stanford mail and accepted an invitation of Mrs. Stanford to enter the house and rest up a bit, which was tendered because the walking was very bad from the new-fallen snow and he appeared somewhat exhausted. He said that he would finish up his route. As he started to leave the house, he fell down the steps and was picked up and carried into the Stanford house, where he almost instantly expired.

The funeral of Walter Buley was held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, No. 94 Prince street, and was largely attended. The Rev. T. H. Baragwanath, pastor of the St. James M. E. Church, officiated, and paid a high tribute to the sterling worth of the deceased. Mr. Buley was employed as train baggage man on the Ulster & Delaware railroad for the past fifteen years and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who sent a beautiful floral offering. Employees of the U. & D. also sent out floral offerings. Interment was made in Waverly cemetery, and the bearers were members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

All who knew Mrs. Clarence M. Marquand, formerly of Kingston, now of Newburgh, were grieved indeed to learn of her sudden death at her home in Newburgh on Wednesday. The death of this beloved young wife and mother in the first blizzard of her womanhood seems the more tragic in that she leaves a little daughter but a few days old and another little daughter, Helen, three years old, besides her devoted husband, her bereaved parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Wert, and two sisters, Miss Gladys Van Wert and Miss Lela Jones. The body was brought to the home of Mrs. Marquand's parents, No. 42 Smith avenue, on Thursday and those friends who wish once more to see Mrs. Marquand may call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Wert this afternoon or evening. The funeral will be private, at the residence of Mr. Van Wert on Saturday, at the convenience of the family.

Killed Wife With Axe.

Newburgh, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Ayde Garmon, 22, was murdered last night by her husband as she slept. An axe was the weapon used by Garmon. After killing his wife, Garmon locked up a policeman and said he thought he had killed his wife.

MCKINSTRY LEFT MILLION DOLLARS

The will of the late David McKinstry, formerly of Gardiner, who died recently at Oklahoma, disposes of an estate of about $1,000,000. Of this estate $242,000 is divided among former employees at Mr. McKinstry's grain elevator at Perry, Oklahoma, and relatives of Mr. McKinstry in New York state and the remainder is bequeathed to the widow, Mrs. Leona McKinstry. The McKinstry home in Oklahoma City is bequeathed to the widow. Mr. McKinstry was well known in Kingston where he has relatives, and was a close personal friend of former Sheriff Zadoc P. Boice.

Says "Shimmy" is Old Dance.

The shimmy is 400 years old, this "modern" dance having been done back in the sixteenth century, says Prof. Louis Kretlow of Chicago, who has taught dancing for 63 years. He says many other of the modern dances haven't really changed since the monk, Tholost Arbeau, wrote a book about them in 1588. They were the same and the positions of the dancers identical with those of the present day. Arbeau knew the shimmy, but called it "The Death Dance."

Professor Kretlow, who was born in 1845, was teaching the latest steps when Milwaukee was a trading post. It was mostly the reel and the jig at that time, and in the most exciting sets the gentleman touched only his partner's finger tips. It was the day of the pantalette and hoopskirt.

Made London Laugh.

I was working in American headquarters in London in March, 1919. As we were quartered on the opposite side of the city, we had quite a little ride or walk to where we worked. I arose one morning rather late and rushed off half-cooked to work. On the way I noticed that every one around me was smiling, some actually laughing. Imagine my chagrin when in the busiest street, at Trafalgar square, to have a major touch me on the shoulder and call my attention to the fact that I had neglected to put on my leather leggings, which left about two inches of white sock and two inches of equally white underclothes between the shoes and trousers legs.

Believe me, it did not take me long to climb in a taxi and get back to my lodging house—Exchanges.

An Economic Perplexity.

"Perhaps your mind man quit because you didn't pay him enough," "No," replied Farmer Cornfield, "that can't be it. The reason he won't work just now is that he wants time to spend the money he made last week."

Vienna Playhouses and Palaces

The Hofburg Palace.

VIENNA is reduced by the peace treaty to the capital of a small weak nation, but it retains the many features that in years past have proved attractive to tourists. Not the least of these are its imperial playhouses and palaces.

Occupying a full square block on the famous Ringstrasse in Vienna stands the Imperial opera house. Two bronze figures, symbolic of music, adorn the left and right wings of the building. These and the ornamental candelabrae at the entrance were designed by Fritz Zeutisch.

The opera house, erected in 1861-69, is four stories high, with five front entrances and six side ones, built entirely of white stone. It is of Venetian style, principally of the Renaissance period, with a mixture of French architecture of the same time.

Directly on the main avenue is a balcony above the entrance over which are five arches, each having a statue of a renowned musician. At the extreme sides, slightly higher, are two imposing bronze figures seated upon horses.

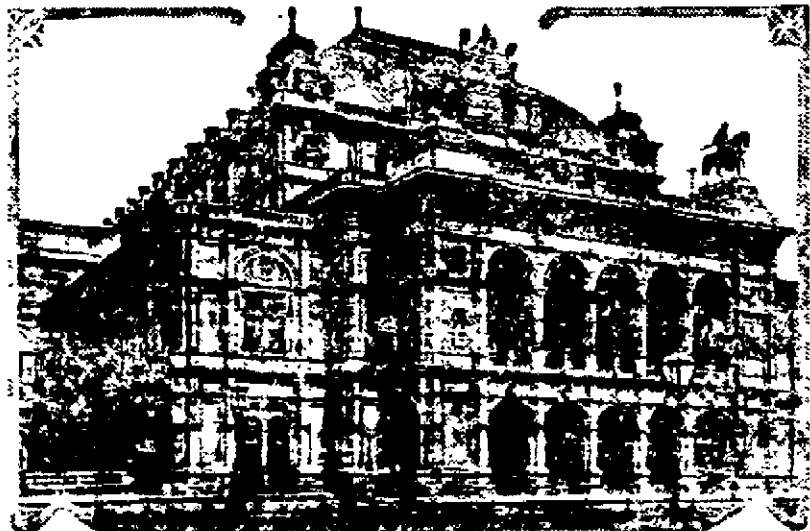

Scenes depicted from "The Magic Flute" form frescoes in the loggia. The foyer is resplendent in a color scheme of red and gold. Many heavy bronze doors lead into the foyer, some being draped with red plush curtains. An old marble mantelpiece stands at one end, with a carved and gilded grating.

The ceiling is ornamented by rare paintings; at the sides are busts of composers. The walls are enriched with wreaths of flowers and fruit chandeliers in stone, making a decidedly brilliant showing against a black marble background.

The auditorium, one of the finest anywhere abroad, was finished by Bitterlich, while the drop curtain used in gay operas was painted by Lautberger, that for tragic purposes, being designed by Ruhl. The Imperial box is located in the center, with a seating capacity of two dozen persons, for the royal family and guests of nobility. It protrudes slightly beyond the other boxes, and bears the Austrian seal and flag.

Magnificent Imperial Theater. The Imperial Theater, on the Lower-buster section of the Ringstrasse, is equally magnificent. The exterior has statues of Phaedra, Don Juan, Faust and Hanswurst. The surrounding niches contain the busts of poets.

A feature of singular note is the grand staircase of 100 steps. Tall lamps at the base and head illuminate the wide ascent, and the sides are

The Imperial Opera House.

FISH TAGGED AND RELEASED

University of Wisconsin Professor Making Study of Habits and Colorings of Various Species.

Three hundred fish in Lake Mendota, Madison, Wis., now wear identification tags on the gills, placed there by Prof. A. S. Pearse of the University of Wisconsin zoology department. In the interests of investigations which he is carrying on for the United States bureau of fisheries.

Tagged, perch, carp, cat and bass are included among the 300 fish which Doctor Pearse has caught, tagged and released, after a few scales had been filed away with each fish's record. Fishermen who catch tagged fish return them to him to add his investigation.

Among the fisheries problems which he is studying now, why certain species of fish are abundant in some localities and not in others; why a certain kind of fish may reach maximum size in one body of water, but remain small in another; how many fish a body of water may support.

About 1900 fish were tagged two years ago, but so few were returned that it was thought that the tags placed on fins were lost. A new tag to be placed on the gill was therefore devised. A few scales of each tagged fish are preserved because the fish's age may be determined from the rings on the scales.

Doctor Pearse has authorized catch information in the last five years concerning the habits, food, habits and best growing conditions of freshwater fish.

DON'T WANT A SECOND BURLERSON

Federal Employees Union, With 700,000 Members. After Big Parties' Assurance That No Man Like Him Will Be Named for Job.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Postmaster General Burleson will be an issue in the November election with the 700,000 members of the Federal Employees Union, officials of the organization announced today after a delegation of union postal clerks had called on Will Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, to extract from him a promise that the Republican candidate would be named to name a man for Burleson's job "unlike Burleson in character and views."

"We promise not to name Burleson," answered Hays laughingly. He then told the delegation, he would take its petition before the national committee.

Another delegation will call on Homer Cummings, national chairman of the Democratic committee, to serve notice that 700,000 members of the Federal Employees are ready for action in the November election and will fight the Democratic party unless assurance is given that the present postmaster general is not reappointed or a man of his type not named to succeed him.

"We want a man who is everything that Burleson is not," said a member of the delegation.

Misses Tessie and Marie McCue are confined to their home with an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Marshall Miller is confined to her home, 132 Stephan street, with an attack of influenza.

William S. McDonough, proprietor of the Columbia Shop on Fair street, and wife, are confined to their home by illness.

Alderman Macholdt, a motorman on the Colonial division, injured his arm Thursday while at work on the track plover.

Severin Schoonmaker and Mrs. Schoonmaker, formerly of this city, are confined to their beds with the flu at their home in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Peter Schuler and child of New Brighton, Staten Island, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lowe at their home, 232 Broadway.

Dr. Eastman Solves Transportation.

Dr. Frank L. Eastman is strictly up-to-date and the big drifts from the blizzard are not stopping him from making as many calls as possible. His auto is useless, due to traffic conditions, and he is using a horse and sleigh. In addition he carries with him a pair of snow shoes and in that way is able to navigate the drifts successfully.

East Kingston Dance Postponed.

Due to the heavily drifted roads the dance that was to have been held Saturday evening by the Children of Mary Sodality of St. Colman's Church East Kingston, has been postponed. It will be held Saturday, February 14.

SHORTAGE CAUSES COAL DIVERSION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Drastic steps were taken today by Rail Director Hines, through diversion orders, to prevent the shut down of scores of industries and public utilities in the east because of a lack of coal supplies. Regional Director Maher, of the Pocahontas region, was given wide latitude in diverting large shipments of fuel from original consignees to points in the Allegheny and eastern territory, to meet emergency calls for coal.

Diversion to meet the needs of essential industries will be continued for several days in order to restore depleted stocks. Many industries have been unable to secure enough coal for current operation as a result of car dislocation, shortage of labor at the mines and other causes that have reduced the normal supply.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 6.—Violent advances were made at the delayed opening of the stock market today, gains of from fractions to seven points being scored in the entire list. Steel Common rose 3/4 to 100%. Crucible jumped 7 points to 216; Republic Steel 2 points to 107 1/2; Baldwin 2 1/2 to 110 1/2. General Motors advanced 7 points to 282.

Pierce Arrow was 3 1/2 higher at 60 1/2. American Woolen rose four points to 137 1/2 and International Paper gained two points to 76 1/2.

Mexican Petroleum led the oils with an advance of 4 1/2 to 184 1/2. Pan-American Petroleum rose 2 1/2 to 83. Texas Company 1 1/2 to 77 1/2 and Royal Dutch 1 1/2 to 101 1/2. The railroad shares were also in demand, Southern Pacific advancing nearly 2 points to 95 1/2. Reading 1 1/2 to 72 1/2 and St. Louis and San Francisco 1 1/2 to 17 1/2.

After the buying movement had ended, the market turned heavy again towards noon on an announcement of a call money renewal rate of seventeen points. Steel Common fell to 101 1/2, while Republic Steel yielded 1 1/2 to 106 and Baldwin Locomotive 1 1/2 to 109. Middle States oil fell 6 points to 26, while the other oil issues fell 1 to 2 points from the early high. The rails were generally firm, Missouri Pacific advancing nearly 2 points to 41. American International yielded over 2 points to 98 1/2 and Marine Common fell 2 points to 32.

The motor shares also dropped from 1 to 3 points from the opening levels.

The cutness in the money situation—call money renewing at 17 per cent—caused a violent break in the market in the early afternoon. Steel Common was forced down nearly 3 points to 97. General Motors was 26 points the high at 257, while Mexican Petroleum dropped 15 points from the high to 169.

The worst break of the year occurred in the early afternoon. There was a sharp rally when call money dropped to 15 per cent. Baldwin Locomotive after selling as low as 104 1/2, rose to 109 1/2. Republic Steel after dropping to 102, rose to 106 1/2 and Steel Common from its low of 97 rallied 2 points. General Motors after breaking 2 1/2 points to 258 recovered 7 points and Mexican Petroleum after selling down 16 points to 168 1/2 rallied to 175.

NEWBERRY MONEY PAID FREELY

County Organizer Giv' "An Agreeable Surprise" of $500 in Sealed Envelopes—Campaign Manager Told "Wherever Everything Was All Night."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 6.—"An agreeable surprise" in the form of a sealed envelope containing $500 in cash was handed to John E. Kern, Midland county organizer for the Newberry campaign in the summer of 1918, during the course of a visit to Detroit headquarters from Newberry, he testified today in the trial of Senator Newberry and his 122 political associates.

Kern said he had visited Detroit in August, 1918, and dropped into Newberry's headquarters for a chat with Paul H. King, executive secretary of the Newberry campaign committee. During the talk, he said, a sealed envelope was placed on the table beside him. He did not open it, he declared, until on the train on his way back home, when he found "the roll."

After paying himself $95 for his campaign expenses, he told the jury, he had sent the balance back to Frank Emory, who was in charge of headquarters at Detroit. His activities, he said, consisted in touring the country with Terry C. Corliss, a Newberry field agent, and introducing the latter to the political leaders of the various townships.

Miss Pearl Gilbert, of Washington, D. C., and Flint, Mich., secretary to Congressman Curry, and an employee of the Newberry committee during the summer of 1918, testified that Paul H. King, campaign manager, dictated a telegram to her for Mr. Newberry, a telling aim "not to worry, that everything was all right."

Further testimony concerning bank accounts of the Newberry agents during the campaign was introduced today by the government. George McKens, vice-president and cashier of the Old National Bank of Grand Rapids, testified that Charles A. Floyd, in charge of Grand Rapids headquarters, had deposited $6,482.72, between April and August, 1918. Withdrawals during this time reached $6,422.74. On cross examination the defense brought out the fact that Mr. Floyd had maintained an account at the bank for some time and that his deposits the following year had aggregated over $5,000.

R. R. CHIEFS TO APPROACH WILSON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Railroad brotherhood chiefs today stated that they probably will take their demands for increased wages to President Wilson again.

The brotherhood chiefs declared that their parley with Director General Hines has thus far developed only a difference of opinion as regards wage increases and living costs. Unless these differences can be wiped out in the conferences which begin late this afternoon, the brotherhood chiefs will appeal to the president. They declare there has been no strike talk.

They declare Director General Hines has shown thus far no inclination to grant increased wages. He has declared that since 1915 there have been increases in wages of 113 per cent for the shop men, 86 for the machinists, 148 per cent for the carmen, 111 per cent for maintenance of way men and 74 per cent for transportation employees.

Brotherhood chiefs have disputed these figures because the director general has counted the decreased hours as increased wages. They declare there has been a general increase of 106 per cent in the cost of living and that the general average of increased wages does not begin to approach this figure.

PRINCESS ANNE RUMORED SINKING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 6.—An unconfirmed report was received here this afternoon that the Old Dominion liner, Princess Anne, with 104 persons on board, which went ashore off Rockaway Point in last night's gale, had started to sink.

All morning life savers and tugs battled with the raging seas in an effort to get close enough to the stranded vessel to take off the 325 passengers and 72 members of the crew. So high were the waves that the tugs could not work near to the stricken steamship, nor could the life savers launch their boats.

Two more men going tugs were rushed to the assistance of the Princess Anne early in the afternoon.

Word was received that the ship's supply of fresh drinking water had run out.

So low was the vessel in the sand and water, the passengers were rushed to less exposed corners of the vessel.

On Sunday.

Graves work the world's gravestones. It is a terrible sight to see a gravestone being bought, or to be had for nothing. It brings the common sense to grave by means of speeches, poems, stories, pictures, or whatever it can please with. Character creates its own gravestone. It is a thing that is not bought, but a thing that is earned. It is a thing that is not sold, but a thing that is given. It is a thing that is not lost, but a thing that is found. It is a thing that is not forgotten, but a thing that is remembered. It is a thing that is not dead, but a thing that is alive. It is a thing that is not silent, but a thing that is loud. It is a thing that is not empty, but a thing that is full. It is a thing that is not dark, but a thing that is light. It is a thing that is not cold, but a thing that is warm. It is a thing that is not lonely, but a thing that is loved. It is a thing that is not forgotten, but a thing that is remembered. It is a thing that is not dead, but a thing that is alive. ## GIRL'S TEAM TO PLAY TONIGHT

On Y. M. C. A. Court—Varsity Basketball Players Will Tussle With Roxbury—Get Ready For the Big Minstrel Show.

Tonight the girls' varsity basketball team will play the Hudson girls' varsity team in the Y. M. C. A. The game is to be staged in the Y. M. C. A. because of the concert to be held in the Kingston High School auditorium.

The change in the place where the game is played will not make the game any less interesting as the court will be a foreign one to both teams. The Kingston girls are out to win and they appeal to the citizens of Kingston to back them up by coming out to their game.

Unless something hinders the holding of the game, it will begin at 8 o'clock.

The boys' varsity plans to play in Roxbury this evening. So far as is known now, they will be there on time for a tussle with the mountaineers. They have great expectations of "bringing home the bacon."

Well, the thing which everyone has been looking and asking for, wondering about and worrying about, has peeped forth and announced that it will appear in the High School auditorium some time in the latter part of February. That "it" is the High School Athletic Association annual minstrel show.

"Bigger and better than ever," is the best way of expressing it. Most of the comedians who appeared before are still in school and their services will be most to the show.

Some of the fellows who will be there on the ends will be: "Fitch" Allen, famous, accomplished musician; "Roger" Bell, Acacia, well-known on the "Fitch" Allen; "Goldberg," from the "Fitch" Allen; "Winters," brought in from last year's performance; "The Duke," who will be "The Duke" and "Buck" Sears, ex-soubrette, and a man with a surprise for the crowd.

There is no need to tell anyone, but these fellows can do on the stage better than last year's minstrel show.

Mr. McHenry and Mr. McHenry of the faculty will have charge of the concert and production of the show. These fellows are also assisting in the role of general manager and producers. With a crew of leaders like these three, there can be no failure when it comes to a good show.

Three Witches of Belvoir.

Here are their names: Anne Baker, Jeanne Willmott, Ellen Greene. And, above all, here is the name of their cat, "Ruttenkin." For by means of Ruttenkin they entered, said they, into communion with familiar spirits. These three witches, who lived in 1528, were the confidential servants of the earl of Rutland at Belvoir castle, England. They had a grudge—today we should say a "sniff"—against the earl and determined upon revenge. They managed to pick a hair from the head of a member of the family, and they turned it for ill luck. They secured made off with the glove of the earl and rubbed it on the back of Ruttenkin to call down bodily harm on the glove's owner. They were believed to have accomplished the death of the earl's son, through frightening the boy, and they were tried at Lincoln, condemned, and burned at the stake for the crime of "witchcraft." At that era the question of "witchcraft" was stalking through the world.

Like Odette Sea Story.

A tale of piracy, with an oldtime flavor, comes from the Orient. Between Hongkong and Macao, the captain of an old junk was surprised to discover seven men, armed to the teeth, standing in an open boat alongside. Four of them had rifles, two had two revolvers each, and the seventh had a revolver and a dagger. As the captain refused to surrender his vessel when called upon to do so, the pirates fired into the air in order to intimidate him. This had the desired effect, for the junk was stopped and the pirates clambered aboard. They overpowered the crew and steered the ship for an island where another vessel was anchored. They transferred the cargo to it, took everything they could remove and then liberated the imprisoned crew and let them sail away in their empty junk. The pirates kidnapped two of the crew, evidently being short of men.

Human Eyes Delicate.

The exquisite delicacy of operation on the human eye was well brought out in an address on removing foreign bodies from the eyeball delivered before the American Medical Association by Dr. John O. McKeen of Dallas, Tex., and by the discussion that followed. It is comparatively easy to remove a foreign body, but the operation is a failure unless the eye itself is in normal sight. To cut into the vitreous part of the eye and risk losing some of the vitreous substance, to make the pupil of the eye too small, or to make it too large, are all things that call for extraordinary skill and perfect technique.
